PROGRAM REPORT

Name of the Program: One Week Faculty Development Program on “Learning Strategies for Enhanced Learning Outcomes”

Resource Person:

Dr. D Madhuri,
Associate Professor
Dept. of Pharm. Analysis
CES College of Pharmacy, Chinatekur, Kurnool.
Phone No: +91 7675 935 294

Duration of the program: 28-01-2019 to 02-02-2019(6 Days)

No. of Participants: 30

The Faculty Development Program (FDP) on "Learning Strategies for Enhanced Learning Outcomes" organized by MIPER was a comprehensive and insightful initiative aimed at equipping educators with effective strategies to enhance the learning experiences and outcomes for faculty.

The primary objective of the FDP was to empower faculty members with the knowledge and skills necessary to adopt and implement innovative learning strategies in their teaching methodologies. Dr. D Madhuri, a distinguished expert in the field of education, led the program and shared her expertise on designing and implementing strategies that promote active and meaningful learning.

Dr. D Madhuri accentuated the importance of moving beyond traditional teaching methods. She introduced innovative pedagogical approaches such as flipped classrooms, project-based learning, and collaborative learning to engage faculty actively in the learning process. A significant portion of the program was dedicated to discussing the integration of technology in education. Participants were introduced to various digital tools and platforms that can enhance the learning experience, making it more interactive and accessible.

The FDP delved into effective assessment strategies that go beyond traditional exams. Dr. D Madhuri stressed the importance of formative assessment, continuous feedback, and the use of diverse evaluation methods to gauge student understanding and progress. Participants were guided on creating inclusive classrooms that cater to diverse learning styles and preferences. Strategies for accommodating faculty with different abilities and backgrounds were explored, fostering an environment where every student can thrive.

Dr. D Madhuri introduced a variety of active learning techniques to keep faculty engaged. The program included hands-on activities, group discussions, and case studies to demonstrate how these techniques can be effectively incorporated into the curriculum.

The FDP encouraged active participation from attendees through group discussions, interactive sessions, and practical exercises. Participants were given the opportunity to share their experiences and challenges, creating a collaborative learning environment.

Conclusion

The FDP on "Learning Strategies for Enhanced Learning Outcomes" by MIPER, led by Dr. D Madhuri, was a resounding success. It provided faculty members with valuable insights and practical tools to enhance their teaching methods and, consequently, improve the learning outcomes for faculty. The program not only addressed current challenges in education but also inspired educators to adopt a proactive and innovative approach to teaching. The participants left the program with a renewed enthusiasm and a wealth of new ideas to implement in their classrooms. MIPER's commitment to professional development through such programs is commendable, and it is expected that the impact of this FDP will be reflected in the enhanced learning experiences of the faculty under the guidance of the participating faculty members.

PROGRAM REPORT

Name of the Program: A One Week Faculty Development Program on “Empowering Educators for Effective Mentoring of Pharmacy Students”

Resource Person:

Mr. N.D. Nizamuddin,
Associate Professor,
Dept. of Pharm. Chemistry
St. Johns College of Pharmacy, Yemmiganur.
Phone No: +91 9703 868 331

Duration of the program: 24-04-2019 to 29-04-2019(6 Days)

No. of Participants: 34

MIPER hosted a Faculty Development Program (FDP) titled "Empowering Educators for Effective Mentoring of Pharmacy students," facilitated by the esteemed resource person Mr. N.D. Nizamuddin. The FDP aimed at equipping educators in the field of pharmacy with the necessary skills and insights to become effective mentors, guiding faculty in their academic and professional journey.

The primary objective of the FDP was to empower educators with the knowledge and tools required to serve as effective mentors for pharmacy faculty. Mr. N.D. Nizamuddin, a recognized expert in the field, shared his expertise on mentorship strategies, effective communication, and the cultivation of a supportive learning environment.

Mr. N.D. Nizamuddin provided a comprehensive overview of the essential roles and responsibilities of a mentor in pharmacy education. The program emphasized the mentor's role in guiding faculty not only in academics but also in professional and personal development.

A significant portion of the FDP focused on honing effective communication skills. Participants were guided on how to establish open lines of communication with faculty, fostering an environment where mentees feel comfortable seeking guidance and sharing their concerns. The importance of creating a supportive and inclusive learning environment for pharmacy faculty was discussed. Strategies to identify and address the diverse needs of faculty were explored, promoting a culture of collaboration and mutual respect.

The FDP delved into the mentor's role in providing career guidance and facilitating the professional development of pharmacy faculty. Mr. N.D. Nizamuddin shared insights on how mentors can help faculty navigate the evolving landscape of the pharmaceutical industry and academia.

Practical mentorship best practices were shared, including goal-setting, regular feedback mechanisms, and fostering a mentor-mentee relationship based on trust and mutual respect. Case studies and real-life examples were presented to illustrate effective mentorship in action.

The FDP encouraged active participation through interactive sessions, group discussions, and case study analyses. Participants had the opportunity to share their experiences, challenges, and success stories related to mentoring pharmacy faculty.

Conclusion

The FDP on "Empowering Educators for Effective Mentoring of Pharmacy Faculty" by MIPER, led by Mr. N.D. Nizamuddin, proved to be a valuable resource for educators in the field. Faculty members from various institutes dynamically participated in the five day Faculty Development Program. The program provided participants with practical tools and insights to enhance their mentorship skills, contributing to the overall development and success of pharmacy faculty. MIPER's commitment to fostering excellence in education through such programs is evident, and it is expected that the positive impact of this FDP will resonate in the mentorship practices of the participating educators, ultimately benefiting the pharmacy faculty under their guidance.
